Made Thro' Express Books—Judge of Virginia Court Imports Forty Gallons Against Coming Dry Times.

In these fateful times of impending doom for Old John Barleycorn, when the old toper of small means spends his last dollar to gather a little store in his garret and the man higher up replenishes his cellar with feverish haste, how is the officer of the law to know, by referring to the delivery books of express companies whether a man is ordering large quantities to evade the law or if he simply believes in preparing for war times during times of peace?

The utter hopelessness of the thing was brought home to a Virginia judge with peculiar force a week ago, says the Richmond Times-Dispatch. Numerous complaints had been made to the jurist relative to the illicit sale of whisky in the county. To be openly and hilariously drunk had become a fad with a remarkably large number of citizens. The county had been swung into the "dry" column years ago. Every indication was that boot-leggers were at the bottom of all the trouble.

In response to the requests of leading citizens, the judge promptly announced that he would hold a special session of court, and that all the machinery of the law would be used in running its violators to earth. The special session was called. Citizens were summoned from every section of the county to testify as to their knowledge of conditions. Among the witnesses was the express agent at the county seat.

This man came to court armed with all his delivery books, prepared to give the court any information as to the delivery of whisky from his office for an indefinite length of time. When called to the stand before the grand jury he read out at length the various deliveries, the quantity of liquor and the names of the consignees. Tom Brown had ordered a few quarts. Jim Jones had laid in a supply totaling a gallon or two. Various other citizens had added small quantities to their supplies. Finally, the name of the judge was reached, and the agent, with a twinkle in his eye, read: "Judge ——, forty gallons."

"Read on", impatiently commanded the Commonwealth's attorney, who had been called in to conduct the examination.

The agent resumed reading, and his next line was: "Mr. ———" (the name of the Commonwealth's attorney), "eighteen cases of whisky, twelve quarts to a case."

"Gentlemen," said the Commonwealth's attorney, with something of a grim smile, "I don't see that this line of questioning is at all productive of results."

DISCUSSED NEW LAW

Chief of Police C. T. Goods of This City Made Chairman of Executive Committee of Police Chiefs of the State

Between twenty-five and thirty chiefs of police of Virginia cities gathered Saturday in the office of Chief of Police Louis Werner in Richmond to hear Prohibition Commissioner Peters discuss the prohibition law, which goes into effect at midnight Tuesday. Following speeches delivered by Mr. Peters, Attorney General John Garland Pollard, Guy T. Horner, of Southampton county, and Thomas H. Whitehead, of Amherst, the latter two being special counsel for the Prohibition Commissioner for the Eastern and Western Districts, respectively, a dinner was served at Murphy's Hotel.

Commissioner Peters told the police that in enforcing the prohibition law they were to use their judgment in all cases, and that a radical interpretation of the law was not desired.

The prohibition laws, he said, must be worked out in time. There are many confusing points, he said, as the law now stands, and he does not expect that they can be worked out and interpreted by the officers at once. It will take a reasonable length of time, he thought, to put the laws into good working shape.

Attorney-General Pollard said that the officers throughout the State will soon be face to face with a difficult problem, in the enforcing of the new prohibition laws. He said that while other laws had behind them the sympathy of the community, the prohibition laws have not behind them the unqualified support of the citizenry of the State. While it is true, he said, that prohibition was adopted by a large majority, it is not true that all citizens are in favor of prohibition. This, he said, will operate to make the enforcement of the laws hard on the police officers.

Mr. Whitehead and Mr. Horner spoke briefly, discussing the new act as it appeared from the standpoint of the attorneys who will be called upon to aid in its enforcement.

Following talks by police chiefs, the following officers were unanimously elected to head the Virginia Chiefs of Police Association:

Charles G. Kiser, Norfolk, president; Major Louis Werner, Richmond, first vice-president; John M. Seay, Lynchburg, second vice-president; Charles T. Hamilton, Jr., Roanoke, secretary; John M. Broughton, Portsmouth, treasurer, and R. F. Ragland, of Petersburg, sergeant-at-arm

The following exectuive committee was named: Chief Goods, of Alexandria; Chief Cotton, of Hopewell; Chief Brinkley, of Suffolk; Chief Hall of Fredericksburg, and Chief Fogue, of Farmville. Newport News was chosen as the place for the August meeting.

FORMAL DEDICATION

Of the Anne Lee Memorial Home For the Aged to Occur Tomorrow.

The Board of Governors of the Anne Lee Memorial Home for the Aged has issued invitations to organizations and out of town chapters for the dedication services and reception at the Home tomorrow afternoon. The dedication will be at five o'clock, the addresses by Judge Louis C. Barley and Mayor Thomas A. Fisher and the benediction by the Rev. Edward T. Kirkley. The reception will be from 4 to 9 and the townspeople are cordially invited.

It is hoped that all Alexandrians who are interested in this good work will take the opportunity to inspect the Home and meet the members of the board, who are always glad to give any information about the home and interest more people in its work.

It is certainly an object that should have the co-operation of the entire community.

Notice.

I have some fine old Port Wine, 15 years old, at $3 per gallon, also some excellent imported sherry, at $3 per gallon, for immediate sale. G. W. Wells, 114 north Fairfax St.

Annie Lee Again.

Since the red light district has been closed Annie Lee, one of the inmates of a house in that section, has been adrift in Alexandria. She has been arrested a number of times upon different charges, generally that of drunkenness, and spent most of the past two years in the workhouse or jail. She was given a ninety-days' sentence during the early part of the summer, but, almost as soon as she was released she reappeared in the dock at the Police Court. She was recently returned to the workhouse.

Overseer Sherwood was forced to arrest her yesterday, fearing she would set the building on fire, He appeared against her this morning, and testified that her favorite pastime was to light a newspaper and run from one room to another with it. It was intimated that her mind is about to give way. Justice Caton ordered her to be transferred from the workhouse to the jail.

On half a dozen occasions, after she had been committed to prison, this woman was released upon promising to stay away from Alexandria, But she has never remained away long. The last time she was arrested she had boys following her about in a

Mr. Charles A. Simpson is confined to his home on St. Asaph street, between King and Price, by indisposition.

Mrs. Thomas Fauntleroy and Miss Gladys Fauntleroy returned today to their home in Alta Vita, Virginia, after a visit to Mrs. Fauntleroy's son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Fauntleroy, at their home 1000 Prince street.

There was a report in circulation today that a man and woman were seriously injured in an automobile accident near Occoquan yesterday, and that the man had been brought to the Alexandria Hospital. Inquiries at that institution failed to verify the report and nothing further has been learned about it.

A Norfolk paper announces the appointment of Mr. Walter L. Stanley, formerly general claim agent of the Seaboard Air Line Railway, as assistant to President W. J. Harahan, of that road. The appointment is effective November 1. Mr. Stanley is the brother of Mrs. John Lee Allison, of Alexandria. He is a native of Wytheville and studied law at the University of Virginia.

Miss Nannie Nevitt and Miss Ella Hill are in charge of arrangements for the entertainment Thursday evening, November 9, for the benefit of the Young Men's Sodality Lyceum, During the intermission refreshments will be disposed of and the proceeds will go towards remodeling the Lyceum. The program will be published later and all who enjoy a good "show" should avail themselves of this opportunity to see one.

The evangelistic meetings held by Rev. R. W. Stancill in the Old First Presbyterian Church closed Friday evening. Twenty-one names of persons were secured as charter members for the new Church of Christ and arrangements have been made to hold regular preaching service every Sunday afternoon at 3:30. Prayer meeting will be held each Wednesday evening at 7:45. A Bible class was also organized with 38 members. Rev. Stancill says they will remain in their present quarters until spring or perhaps longer, with a view of buying a lot, erecting a Bible School room in the rear of the lot and build a church in front of same later on.

YOUNG PEOPLE ENTERTAINED

At Afternoon Reception and Dance At Arcturus

Miss Louise Carlin and Master Frank Carlin entertained Saturday afternoon at the home of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. Frank Carlin, at Arcturus, at a dance. The decorations were in keeping with the Hallowe'en season, pumpkin heads, witches and black cats. The dining room was a typical "spook" bower, and the girls were given favors of headdresses of yellow chrysanthemums and paper pumpkin faces. The boys received yellow conical caps decorated with black witches. The afternoon was spent in dancing and games on the lawn. The young host and hostess were assisted in entertaining their guests by their parents and Miss Mary E. Carlin, Mrs. Robert South Barrett, Miss Nina Carlin Fulton, Miss Cora Pulman, Mrs. George S. French, and Mr. Charles C. Carlin, Jr., of Alexandria, and Mr. Harry Randall, of Washington. Among those present were Miss Katherine Belt, of Washington, Miss Marion Blunt, Miss Mabel Blunt, Miss Virginia Wilkins, Miss Margaret French, Miss Susan Smoot Thomson, Miss Dorothy Morton, Miss Jeanette Cochran, Miss Genevieve Shepperson, Miss Esther Lambert, Miss Eliza Bland Cox, Miss Frances Cox, Miss Caroline Wattles, Miss Nancy Wattles, Miss Margaret Linn, Miss Edith Phillips, Miss Dorothy King, Miss Inez Moore, Miss Eleanor Leadbeater and Miss Katherine Leadbeater, Messrs. Edward Hart and Billy Hughes, of Washington, Carl Thompson, Albert Ansley Smoot, Paul Barrett, John Sherman Fowler, Robert Wheat, Richard Kemper, Richard Acton, Charles Shepperson, Franklin Didier, Aubrey Lynch, Urban Lambert, Joel Leadbeater, Moncure Morton and Kenneth Blunt.

Congressman Carlin is booked for a speech at a Democratic rally to be held at the Mount Vernon schoolhouse, district of Jefferson, on Tuesday evening.

August J. Pohl, jr., and Leo Pohl, of Eastern College, Manassas, spent the week-end with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Pohl, at their home in Rosemont.

The will of the late Mrs. Isobel G. Johnston was admitted to probate in the Circuit Court in vacation today. Mrs. Mary G. Powell, Mrs. Janet G. Leadbeater and Mrs. Isobel G. Boswell qualified as executrixes.

Coleman Batcheller is pushing the work of remodeling the building at 704 King street as rapidly as possible. As soon as it is in readiness he will move his Dairy Lunch there. Mr. Batcheller expects to have one of the finest appointed lunch rooms in the city when his new place is completed.

Thomas Rowen, employed as engineer on the Southern railway, was struck by a yard engine early yesterday morning during the dense fog while he was oiling his engine and so badly injured that he had to be taken home. Dr. M. D. Delaney was called to attend him.

Doctor Lewis E. Gott died at Falls Church yesterday. His funeral will take place tomorrow at that place. The deceased was surgeon of the Forty-ninth Virginia Regiment during the war between the states. He had a number of friends and acquaintances in this city.

William Henry Saunders, fifty years old, died late Saturday afternoon at the Aleandria hospital, after a long illness. He was a native of Prince William county and formerly was engaged in business as a merchant. He was a widower and is survived by a daughter, Miss Ruth Saunders, and three brothers, Walter and Frederick of Prince William county, Bennett of Louisiana, and Mrs. Brower, a sister, also of Prince William county. The body was taken to Wheatley's undertaking rooms and this morning was shipped to Manassas where the funeral will occur.

VIRGINIANS CONTRIBUTE

Prominent Men of State Give Both to Democratic and Republican Campaign Funds.

Washington, Oct. 30—Virginians "came across" well to the Democratic campaign chest. Her contributors include Thomas Nelson Page, American ambassador to Italy, $1,500; Oliver J. Sands Richmond banker, $1,000; Robert W. Wooley, of Fairfax; Representative Carter Glass, Senator Claude A. Swanson, W. C. Lauck, of Luray; T. G. Burch, of Martinsville; M. H. Tilghman, Richmond; H. B. Sprowle, Staunton; R. P. Barham and R. H. Mann, Petersburg, $100 each; L. B. Davis, Roanoke, $200; Collector of Customs Hamilton, of Norfolk, $100; J. W. Pepper Christiansburg, $217; women of Richmond, $610; Langhorne Putney, Richmond, $500; and E. L. McNeely, Roanoke, $350.

The largest Republican contributors in Virginia were: Fergus Reed, of Norfolk, and J. J. Millard, of Norfolk, who gave $100 each. Royal E. Cabell, former Commissioner of Internal Revenue; former Unted States Marshall C. G. Smithers, former District Attorney D. Lawrence Groner and a number of ex-Republican postmasters sent $10 each to the G. O. P. campaign treasurer.

HUNTERS' CHART ISSUED

Will Be Mailed to all Game Wardens in the State of Virginia Who Will Post Same For the Benefit of Hunters

Alexandria has ever had its quota of Nimrods, and the following excerps from the game laws will be of interest to all such.

The Department of Game and Inland Fisheries is preparing to issue a game chart for the season of 1916-17, on which is shown the open seasons for game of all kinds. The charts will be mailed to the game wardens of the State, and will be posted in conspicuous places for hunters.

Open seasons for game are as follows:

Wild turkey, pheasants, grouse, quail, and partridges—East of Blue Ridge Mountains, November, December and January; west of the Blue Ridge, November and December.

Woodcock—November and December.

Sora and reedbird—September, October and November.

Black-breasted and golden plover, greater and lesser yellow legs—From August 15 to December 1.

Jacksnipe or Wilson snipe—November, December and January.

Waterfowl, coots and gallinules, including brant wild ducks and geese—November, December and January.

Band-tailed pigeons, little brown, sandhill and whooping cranes, wood ducks, swans, curlew willet—Closed season until September 1, 1918.

Deer—September, October and November.

Hares or rabbits—November, December and January.

Squirrels, opossums, coon, muskrat, foxes and other fur-bearing animals, ——No general State law, protected by Legislature and supervisor special enactments in many of the counties.

Black bass or pond bass or Southern chub—East of the Blue Ridge Mountains, from June 15 to March 15; west of the Blue Ridge, July, August, September, October November and December.

Mountain or rainbow trout—April May, June, July and August.

All hunters (no exceptions) are required to obtain hunting licenses before they can hunt any of the wild animals and wild birds in this State while off of their own or adjoining lands, and may then hunt only during the open seasons for same. County license costs $1; State license, $3; non-resident, $10; alien, $20.

No hunting permitted before sunrise or after sunset or on Sundays, nor can a gun larger than a ten-bore be used, this to be shot from the shoulder. Hunting before sunrise and after sunset, does not apply to coon, opossum, beaver, skunk, fox, deer, with dogs.

It is unlawful to track or hunt in the snow any wild turkey, pheasants, grouse, quail, partridge or woodcock, or to net or trap them or to destroy their nests, eggs or young at any time or track or hunt any wild deer in the snow.

MEMORIAL SERVICES

Held at the Second Baptist Church Last Evening

The memorial service of Alexandria Council No. 5, Fraternal Americans, was held last evening in the Second Baptist church. The church was decorated with American flags and a large electric emblem of the order, and was taxed to its utmost capacity, by the large audience present many being unable to gain admittance. The services were appropriate to the occasion and the program was interestingly rendered. The choir deserved especial praise for the excellent music. The memorial address was by the Rev. O. W. Triplett and at the close of the sermon he took occasion to open the doors of the church for new members when four made a profession of faith. The ordinance of baptism was then administered upon eleven candidates and the services closed by singing "God be with you 'till we meet again."

CURTAIN ABOUT TO FALL

Last "Wet" Saturday Night Characterized by Festive Scenes, But Cases of Disorderly Conduct Were Not Numerous

There were but two cases of drunken and disorderly conduct before the Police Court this morning, notwithstanding the fact that last Saturday night was the last "wet" Saturday. There were numbers of men, white and colored, on the streets who manifested the effects of over-indulgence in stimulants, but the majority were good-natured and gave the police no trouble.

The stocks in saloons are almost depleted, and it is noticed that there are empty spaces upon shelves which heretofore have been filled with bottled liquors.

Instead of a night of disorders and numerous drunks, in Richmond, which some had prophesied would mark the passing of the last Saturday before the advent of prohibition, last Saturday night proved to be one of the quietest that the police have had for some time. In fact, it was declared to be more orderly than the average Saturday night and less disorder than is reported on some of the other nights of the week.

At the several police stations only a few arrests were made for drunkenness, and there were only one or two arrests for fighting resulting from that condition.

The last Saturday night before prohibition passed in the capital city without rowdyism or disorder. There was no reason for it, and none occurred. It is hardly believed that next Tuesday night, the eve of prohibition, will witness any deveopments of disorder out of the ordinary events incident to the celebration of Hallowe'en.

Let us hope the same will be said of Alexandria. The police department has made arrangements to preserve pacific conditions on Tuesday night. Every member of the force will be on duty and every precaution is to be taken to nip trouble in the bud.

RALLY MEETING

Organized Labor Will Gather at Opera House and Endorse Hon. C. C. Carlin

The Plate Printers' International Union and members of organized labor will hold a rally meeting Wednesday evening in the opera house here, to ratify and indorse the candidacy of Charles C. Carlin for re-election to Congress.

President William G. Holder has addressed a letter to P. J. Ryan, editor of the Plate Printer, authorizing the meeting because of Mr. Carlin's friendly interest in the plate printers in introducing a bill for protection of the bank note engraving and printing industry.

Mayor Fisher will deliver the address of welcome and act as chairman of the meeting.

The reception committee follows: W. R. Hamilton, chairman of No. 1665 of the Alexandria Brotherhood of Carpenters, and president of the Alexandria Trades Council; C. A. Howard, J. T. Harrison, T. H. Nelson and Thomas R. Fones.

WILSON SENTIMENT

Republican Leaders Alive to Perilous Situation in Which They Find Their Ticket.

Chicago, Oct. 30. — Republican campaigners at last are awake to the fact that there is an ever-increasing wave of Democratic sentiment in the Middle West—a wave that seems certain to deliver Ohio, Illinois, Wisconsin, Nebraska and perhaps Michigan, to President Wilson.

For weeks Republicans, East and West, have either been blind or unconscious of the rising tide of Democracy. They have refused to believe it possible. They have failed to see any definite sign of Hughes's weakness. But that day is past. Republican leaders are now decidedly alive to the perilous situation in which they find their ticket. And they are preparing for one final, desperate drive to save their candidate.

THE PROHIBITION LAW

Virginia joins the sisterhood of prohibition States tomorrow night after a fight that had been actively waged by temperance forces for four long years.

The prohibition law which will then be in force denies the right of a person to keep liquors at any place but his bona fide home. It prohibits the sale or manufacture of intoxicants in the State. It allows adults living in Virginia to import from out of the State a small quantity of whisky, wine or beer, not oftener than once a month. In order to obtain this stint, the purchaser must be enrolled in permanent books kept by the express companies.

The Mapp act places beyond the pale of legalized industry the business of 650 liquor dealers. From direct and indirect taxation of the liquor industry, retail, wholesale and manufacturing, it is estimated that the State alone, up to two years ago, derived an annual income of $550,000.

The act makes it unlawful on and after November 1 for any person in the state to manufacture transport, sell, advertise, give away, dispense or solicit orders for ardent spirits, which are defined to embrace alcohol, brandy, whisky, rum, gin, wine, porter, ale, beer, all malt liquors, absinthe and all compounds of any of these with vegetables or other substances that will produce intoxication. In the same category are placed fruits preserved in ardent spirit and all beverages containing more than one-half of 1 per cent alcohol by volume.

The prohibition does not apply to cider containing not more than 1 per cent of alcohol by volume. Provision is made for the handling of pure grain and fruit alcohol and pure whisky and brandy by drug stores, for medicinal, pharmaceutical scientific and mechanical purposes, and of wine for sacramental purposes for use by religious bodies.

The manufacture of cider from fruit of one's own raising and for consumption at home is not interfered with. Hotels, under certain restrictions, are allowed to purchase and keep on hand liquors and wines for culinary purposes only.

The bill allows every adult male and every adult female who is head of a family to receive not oftener than once a month, one quart of whisky, one gallon of wine or three gallons of beer. Ardent spirits are prohibited in lodgerooms, clubs, fraternity houses and other public places. Newspapers published within the State are prohibited from carrying liquor advertisements, but the sale and distribution of newspapers published out of the State carrying liquor advertisements, are permitted.

ROOSEVELT'S VENOM

Colonel Roosevelt's Brooklyn speech Saturday night will be regretted, we believe, even by many of his closest friends. Thus suggests the Baltimore Sun. All of us admire courage and red blood, but something is due by one gentleman to another in public debate. Colonel Roosevelt oversteps all the bounds of ordinary decorum when he denounces Mr. Wilson as a hypocrite and a moral coward. Language of this sort may be expected from irresponsible street corner shriekers, but it is not the kind of language we are accustomed to hear from an ex-President of the United States in criticizing one who occupies that exalted office. Something better is demanded by Colonel Roosevelt's own postion as a former executive; something less offensive is demanded by the dignity and authority which the President represents. In calling Mr. Wilson a hypocrite and a coward, Mr. Roosevelt insults the millions of Americans who put the President in the White House and who believe he should remain there. Either they are partners in his hypocrisy and cowardice or they are fools and have not sense enough to detect an impostor.

Colonel Roosevelt's talk with regard to Mr. Wilson is so full of venom and rancor that it would seem almost to indicate a personal grudge. Possibly he realizes that his day of popularity has passed and that the people have chosen another prophet, and in the bitterness of his heart he voices his chagrin and disappointment. The result of his silly billingsgate will be to add votes to the Wilson column. What a pity that a man of Colonel Roosevelt's ability should so often be so small and so childish!

MR. AND MRS. SOCRATES.

Marshall J. Gauvin, recently delivered the first of the season's series of Rationalistic lectures in the Academy theatre in Pittsburgh, Pa., under the auspices of the Pittsburgh Rationalistic Society.

"Every man who reads and thinks today reads and thinks the thoughts of Socrates," declared Mr. Gauvin, "Is it not a disgrace that millions in this twentieth century never heard of his life and death?"

Mr. Gauvin, told of the life of Socrates, and especially of the latter's wife, who, the world has acceded for the last 2,400 years, was the meanest woman in history. Socrates married her, thinking that if he was able to get along with her it would be very easy for him to be in peace with the most terrible of the world, other than her.

Mrs. Socrates, known as Xanthippe, has had but few apologists. It is generally assumed that she was on the order of Mr. McStinger, who was Captain Cuttle's Nemesis. Socrates was no doubt one of the best men ever born, but it is sometimes hinted that he had but a faint realization of the responsibilities of life. His hobby was philosophy, in which study he was an adept, and, like Benjamin Franklin, he would rather talk upon his favorite theories than to sit down to the best dinner that could have been prepared in Athens. He might have been the Micawber of classic days so far as improvidence is concerned.

Xanthippe may have had much to try her patience. She is said to have been a woman of remarkable conversational powers, and was drawn to Socrates by his wisdom. He became enamored of her by her mental powers. They, both, at first, lost sight of the fact that they were poor. This, however, did not seem to cause the philosopher much anxiety, while it did the wife. There are many stories to show the unconcern of Socrates over his temporal affairs. He imagined the human race could feed the animal life as well as the spiritual on phiosophy. Xanthippe did not agree with him, and she often suggested that there should be potatoes in the cellar. Socrates was oblivious to that fact upon one occasion when he invited a party of friends to take dinner with him when the family larder was deplete.

Xanthippe probably had cause to put on her war paint at times. The philosopher, however,passed through such storms in a acific manner, and his wife received all the blame.

Alcibiades, Xenophon and Plato were among Socrates' disciples. It has been suggested that this trio put many words into the mouth of the great Athenian after his decease. Plato, it is suspected, brought forth only the good in his life. He doubtless had weak parts as have all.

VIRGINIA NEWS

Paragraphs Picked Up Here and There Throughout the State.

Beginning Wednesday morning, or in just about one minute after the saloons of Richmond close their doors for the final time, war is declared on John Barleycorn, which fact is well known; but the minions of the law will also start in on the men who drink too much of it as well. The system in vogue in the Police Department has been to take charge of men who happened to take on too much whiskey and care for them at a station house, more for the protection of the drinker than anything else. At 6 o'clock next morning, provided the person so detained was sober enough, he would be allowed to go. Under the new law, however, it is a misdemeanor to get drunk. This means that the defendant must stand trial in Police Court the following morning.

The body of a white man, found floating in the harbor of Petersburg, yesterday morning, has been identified as that of C. R. Ferrell, who was employed as a solicitor for M. C. Gowan and Peasall, furniture dealers of Petersburg, Ferrel was from Halifax county, and had relatives living in Atlanta, Ga., He had been a resident of Petersburg since October, 1915. He had been missing since Wednesday, when he left his boarding house, saying that he was going to work. He was 41 years of age and single.

A. R. Tate, from Mineral was picked up Saturday night in front of the Academy of Music in Richmond and hurried to the Virginia Hospital. He was in an unconscious condition when found, and medical treatment at the hospital failed to revive him. He died last night. It was understood that the man had been under the influence of liquor for several days, and his death was due to resultant causes. It was said that his lungs were laboring under great alcoholic pressure, and that he died before the congestion could be removed.

Struck by a piece of timber from a passing freight, William McLilley, aged 22, of Chester, S. C., was knocked beneath the wheels of the work train upon which he was riding and instantly killed, yesterday morning, near Proffit, Albemarle county. McLilley was employed with the construction force that is double-tracking the Southern Railway. An examination showed that the blow from the timber had knocked a hole in the back of McLilley's head. His left foot was cut off at the ankle and his right arm was shattered.

F. M. Spiller aged 18 years, either was accidentally shot or committed suicide at the residence of his parents in Petersburg Saturday night. Young Spille, had had words with his mother and she reproved him severely for something he had done. He left the house, but soon returned. Grabbing a pistol in the presence of his mother, he remarked "I am going to kill myself," at the same time pointing the pistol at his head. A young brother made a grab for the weapon and it was discharged, the bullet entering the rear of Spiller's head, fracturing the skull. Spiller lived only a short time after the shooting.

Walter Lewis, colored, proprietor of a small pressing and cleaning establishment in River street, Petersburg, was stabbed to death by an unidentified white man about midnight Friday night. Lewis, it seems, had some trouble with two white men about work he had done, and followed them from his place into a Greek's restaurant next door, where after some words had passed, one of the men drew a knife and plunged the blade deep into Lewis's neck, severing one of the large blood vessels. The negro staggered to the door, fell and bled to death almost immediately. The two white men fled, and nothing has been heard of them since. There is no clue to their identity.

STEAMER TORPEDOED.

Marina of Glasgow, Sunk With Probable Loss of Seventy Lives.

London, Oct. 30.— The steamer Marina, of Glasgow, has been sunk by a submarine with a possible loss of seventy lives.

Of the steamer's crew of 104, only thirty-four have been landed.

A dispatch received here today declared she was torpedoed without warning.

Reports of the destruction of four other ships have reached London, in the last 24 hours. They were the Danish steamer Sif, the Russian three-master Ingersoll, the Norwegian bark Regina, and the Greek steamer Angheliki.

The American consul at Queenstown today telegraphed that the Marina was sunk without warning by gunfire Saturday afternoon. Several Americans are believed to have been among her crew.

Two Americans were members of the crew of the British steamer Marina ,sunk Saturday ,according to Consul Frost at Queenstown, in a report to the State Department by cable today.

There were also five Filipinos in the crew, he said.

The Marina tried to escape and was sunk by gunfire, Frost said.

VIRGINIA NEWS

Jesse Kiser, a married man thirty years old, was arrested near Staunton by Sheriff D. E. Croushorn, on a warrant sworn out by Howard Heatwole, brother of Miss Catherine Heatwole, with whom he was found. Miss Heatwole is sixteen years old and is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Heatwole, of near Hinton. She left home with Kiser, who deserted his wife about a week ago. They had taken quarters as tenants of an Augusta County farmer about two miles from Staunton when located by Chief of Police Lipscomb, of that city. Kiser was lodged in jail in Harrisonburg to await a hearing on the warrant which has been issued against him. Miss Heatwole was returned to the home of her parents.

LATEST FISH STORY

Father and Son Finally Succeed in Landing Catch.

Wichita, Kan., Oct. 30.—C. A. Whitney, of Route No. 9, the West Side, and his 16-year-old son rode around on the back of a forty-two-pound catfish for half an hour in the Chickaskia River near Drury the other day. They finally landed the fish and brought it to Wichita.

Whitney and his son have been camping for the last month. Neighbors told them of several times seeing a monster fish in the river. Whitney, wading into the river, felt around until he locate the fish.

He got one hand in the catfish's gills, and jumped on is back. The fish darted forward ad whipped around in the water until it was about to throw its ridr off. Whitney's son rushes to his father's aid and climbed on top of the latter's back to weight down the catfish. For half an hour they roe the fish around, struggling to get it to the bank. They finally succeeded.

TWINS IN SNAKE'S COILS

Mother's Peep at Laughing, Lisping Babies Not a Minute too Soon

Altoona, Pa., Oct. 30—While Mrs. Robert Shaal, of Wehnwood, a suburb, was in another part of her home yesterday she heard her one-year-old twins, Harold and Howard, laughing lisping and apparently having the time of their short young lives.

Peeping into the kitchen, she was amazed to find them playing with a three-foot blacksnake. The reptile was crawling over and about the chilcren, and they were trying to hold it with their chubby hands.

Mrs. Shaal screamed for help and a neighbor ran in and dispatched the snake with a club. It had evidently been attracted to the house by the warmth.

BERTHOLET COMMANDER.

Roumanians Throw Falkenhayn's Army Back More Than Three-Miles.

Berlin, Oct. 30—The French General Bertholet has been appointed commander-in-chief of the Roumanian army, with the Russian General Bielajev as his assistant, French newspapers report.

London, Oct. 30. —Falkenhayn's army has been thrown back more than three miles by the Roumanians in a battle north of Campolung, said a Petrograd dispatch today.

The battle is continuing. The Teutons have been re-enforced, and are desperately counter attacking, seeking to regain the last ground. Other strong Austro-German forces are attacking northwest of Campolung.

At nearly every point on the Transylvania border the Austro-German invasion seems to have been blocked

The latest official statements from Vienna and Berlin claim some further progress, but apparently bear out Bucharest claims that Falkenhayn's offensive has been stopped at least tempoarily.

On the northern front the Teutons are everywhere being swept back against the Transylvania border, and at some places have been driven across the frontier.

In Dobrudja, Mackensen's pursuit of the retreating Russo-Roumanians continues. The defeated armies are retreating toward the bend of the Danube.

DUMPS LIQUOR INTO GUTTER

Confiscated Drinkables in Possession of Norfolk Police Department Are Destroyed.

Norfolk, Oct. 30—The local Police Court officials, Sunday morning beat the Peters men to the first liquor raid in Norfolk. The general haul was staged on Clerk "Billy" Stevens' b ar in the mill of justice. Rum of all descriptions, beer, whiskey, wines, cocktails Manhood Gin, bitters, and indeed, every kind of known intoxicants, flowed for a while this morning in Avon street in much the same manner as does a river.

The liquor destroyed was that which has been confiscated during the regime of Justice Arnold as head of the local mill of justice. Each and every bottle of the wet goods represented a confiscated piece of property and most of them showed that raids had been staged by the police and the owners of the liquor convicted.

The wet goods were all first photographed on a table in Police Court; and John Jones, sitting in the white detention cell, holds the distinction of having the last drink of confiscated liquor.

HAVE NARROW ESCAPE.

Hughes' Automobile Stalls In Front of Oncoming Train.

Oswego, N. Y., Oct. 30—Charles Evans Hughes was almost crushed beneath his own special train here Saturday. With Mrs. Hughes, Mrs. John D. Higgins, Charles Farnham, the candidate's tour manager, and a chauffeur, Mr. Hughes was occupying a motor car. The car became wedged in a motor jam as it was crossing the tracks of the New York, Ontario and Western Railroad, when the campaign train that Mr. Hughes was returning to emerged from a tunnel at a rapid rate.

A curve hid the train until it was within two lengths of the stalled motor. A small panic ensued. The motor could neither back, proceed, nor turn out. E. C. Cook, manager of transportation, fought his way frantically through the shouting crowd and raced down the track toward the train. The brakes were thrown on with a violence that rattled the cars and the engine stopped just 20 feet away from the motor in which Mr. and Mrs. Hughes were sitting.

Killed by Falling Tree.

Philadelphia, Oct. 30.—A mother was killed, her 3 months old baby so badly injured she may die and a second child painfully hurt, yesterday, when a huge tree toppled from a high bank along the Wissahickon drive below Lincoln drive and fell upon an automobile carrying the victims, their relatives and a friend. The dead woman was Mrs. Anna Payevsky, 28 years old, of No. 1003 Girard avenue. She received a fractured skull when the giant tree crashed through the top of the touring car and died a few moments after being admitted to the Germantown Hospital. Sidney, her 3 months old baby, also suffered a fractured skull and is not expected to recover. Three year old Rosalie, the second child, was brusied about the head and body, but was taken home by her father after treatment in the Germantown institution.

SETTLES RESIDENCE QUESTION

Sets at Rest Ninth District Republican Contention as to Rights of Non-Resident Citizens.

Attorney-General Pollard has set at rest the rumors said to have been given current in the Ninth District by the supporters of C. Bascom Slemp, Republican candidate for Congress, that persons who maintained their legal residence at one point, but were located elsewhere on account of employment, were not permitted to vote at the place said to be their residence. He has ruled that the law provides the contrary. It has long been recognized that such a right of citizenship was lawful, and it has been practiced by many people for years.

"It is a well-established doctrine." Mr. Pollard states, "that the mere change of dwelling place, however, long continued, does not in itself constitute a change of legal residence, and that when one has acquired a legal residence it continues to exist until another is acquired elsewhere, and that to effect a change of legal residence there must be an actual abandonment of the former one, coupled with an intent not to return to it, and also to acquire a new legal residence at another place, which can only be done by the union of intent and personal presence; and the burden of proof of abandonment of an old and acquirement of a new legal residence is upon the party making the change."

If such permission were not granted, it would effect many State officers located in Richmond for the discharge of their duties, who were drawn from various sections of the State.

FINDS $18,000 ON THE SEA.

Club Keeper Picks Up a 12-Pound Chunk of Ambergris.

New Bedford, Mass., Oct. 30.—A small fortune flowed in a 12-pound chunk to Clarence Grinnell, keeper of the Seaconnet Club, at Scarconnet Point, R. I., Saturday. He was walking along the beach near the club house when he saw a strange looking substance floating in the water. He hauled it ashore and took it to the clubhouse. The mass exuded a strong odor of musk and some of Grinnell's friends told him it was ambergris.

To make sure, the keeper took the substance to the Brown University bacteriological laboratory, at Providence, and experts told him that he really had found a piece of ambergris, which is valued at about $1,500 a pound. The chuk weighed 12 pounds and the chemists told him it would bring him about $18,000.

NEWS OF THE DAY

Famine is sweeping Thessaly and Peloponesus. The population has been unable to get corn or flour.

Further successes for the French and British in local encounters along the Somme are announced Yesterday afternoon a furious German attack in the sector of La Maisonette, south of the Somme, was broken up by the French fire. The Teutons had concentrated large reserves and brought to the front a number of the giant pumps from which they direct streams of flaming liquids against the opposing trenches. They advanced behind a perfect screen of liquid fire, but the well directed fire of the French artillery not only broke up their molten curtain, but broke up the ranks of the onrushing infantry. A hot machine gun fire poured into the Teuton columns from the French trenches completed the rout and the survivors hurriedly sought the cover of their own trenches.

Before the eyes of an astonished crowd Benjamin Rovner, a motion picture operator, shot his wife dead beneath the New York Central viaduct, at 107th street and Park avenue New York, last night. As she fell, Rovner turned his pistol on her sister, Stella Weiss, with whom she had been taking a walk when he slipped up behind them. The bullet intended for Miss Weiss did not touch her, but she fell over the body of her sister and lay stil. This maneuver probably saved her life. Rovner next fired a shot toward his own head.

Coon Valley, Wis., residents are talking of applying for a Carnegie medal for Fireman Peter Hensgen, of the La Crosse and Southeastern. He was in a freight engine cab when he saw a child in the distance on the track. It was down grade and the brakes were slow to grip. Hensgen climbed out along the footboard to the pilot, grasped the sleeping child with his free hand and lifted her from the track.

The Rumanians, tenaciously defending their northern frontier, have inflicted three severe repulses on Von Falkenhayne's Austro-German armies. They have recaptured the village of Livechi, north of Campolung and on the direct road to Bucharest, taking 300 prisoners and five machine guns.

An international chase, lasting six years, has been brought to a close in Santa Cruz, Cal., where United States Secret Service agents arrested H. R. Wilken, who is said to have passed $100,000 in counterfeit money.

Coal for domestic use has reached $10.75 a ton, and dealers predicted that before the end of the week householders would be tripping over one another to pay from $12 to $15.

Rev. Benjamin Brunning, of Boone Iowa, 96 years old, is the oldest minister in the United States in active charge of a pulpit for the Unitarian Church.

Mr. and Mrs. H. O. Walsh, of Kensmore, Ohio, were burned to death in the wreck of their automobile when it turned over while running at high speed near Drakesburg, Ohio, yesterday. Esther and Helen Walsh, 14 and 17-year-old daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Walsh, and Anna Lees, 18 years old, were seriously burned.

At least eleven persons, five of them children, lost their lives in a fire which yesterday destroyed the St. Elizabeth Hospital in Farnham, Quebec, and from fifteen to twenty-five persons are still unaccounted for. More than 350 persons were asleep when the fire broke out. Twenty-five children were badly injured in Jumping from the third story window.

The British mine-sweeping vessel Genista has been torpedoed and sunk. All the officers and 73 members of the mine-sweeper's crew were lost.

Clyde Ingram, a college student, was shot and seriously wounded in a crowded courtroom in Aberdeen, Miss., by G. G. Miller, father of Miss Mary Miller, a young school teacher, in connection with whose death Ingram, Dr. F. E. Lee, a white physician, and Dr. D. H. Broomfield, colored, were on trial. Miller was arrested. Ingram's condition is reported as crtical. The two physicians are charged with having performed an illegal operation, which is alleged to have caused the death of the young woman. Ingram is charged with complicity.

Twenty men principally warehouse men, have been executed in Mexico City during the past week for participating in robbing freight consignments through fraudulent bills of lading.

CAR TURNS TURTLE.

Augustus Hughes Sustains Broken Neck, and Two Companions Are Injured.

Edenton, N. C., Oct. 30.—In an automobile accident near here yesterday, Augustus Hughes, a well-known general merchant, was instantly killed, Julian Braddle was seriously injured, and Hayward Hughes lost an eye.

Augustus Hughes was driving the car and going at a rapid rate of speed when the machine skidded into a ditch and turned turtle. The driver's neck was broken.

VIRGINIA NEWS

W. J. Suter, a Norfolk liquor dealer, committed suicide yesterday, at Ocean View. Despondency over the business outlook with the State on the eve of going dry is given as the cause of the act by friends. Mr. Suter shot himself in the left temple and [illegible] few minutes.

Consternation reigned among the 20,000 employes of the E. I. Dupont plant at Hopewell Saturday when they discovered that their services were not needed. With the relief of the night shift at 7 o'clock Saturday morning, the plant was closed, due to a shortage of coal to carry on operations. Full work may begin at the plant Wednesday, it is said, and there are enough contracts now on hand to continue the operation of the plant for several months.

Harry C. Simpson, bookkeeper, thirty-years old of Richmond, who suffered a fracture of the skull in a fall from a third-story window of a house at 407 North Thirty-second street, was reported to be resting well yesterday at Memorial Hospital. Simpson sustained the injury while walking along a ledge in the rear of his home or the purpose of entering the house next door to unlatch a spring lock for his neighbor who had left his key on the inside. Failing to note that the ledge on his home did not extend to the one next door, Simpson stepped out into space and fell heading to the ground. That he was not killed outright is regarded as little short of a miracle.

The steamship William A. McKenny, sixth of a fleet of seven being built at Newport News for the Crowell and Thurlow Steamship Company, of Boston, was launched yesterday. Al will steam under American register.

Calvin Ieele, a well known contractor of Norfolk, was shot in the face with a shotgun last week by his brother, Mark Peele, at the latter's home near Colerain, N. C. His injuries are not regarded as serious. It is thought by friends of the injured man that his mind was temporarily unbalanced when his brother was forced to shoot him. Calvin Peele fell from a roof in Lafayette residence park several weeks ago and it is believed that his mind is slightly unbalanced as a result of the shock. A few days ago he went to Colerain to build a house for Turner Wilson, of that place. Mark Peele lives near Colerain. The two brothers had an altercation, and about 4 o'clock Calvin Peele went to his brother's house with the expressed intention of killing his brother.

The body of Cora Windley, colored, about twenty-one years old, was found in a field in Brighton near Portsmouth Friday afternoon. She was stabbed under the heart. Just when the girl was murdered is not known to the authorities. They learned that she left her home last Tuesday night and had not been seen since, until her body was discovered. The spot in which the body was found is a field.
